Using the one page MAP

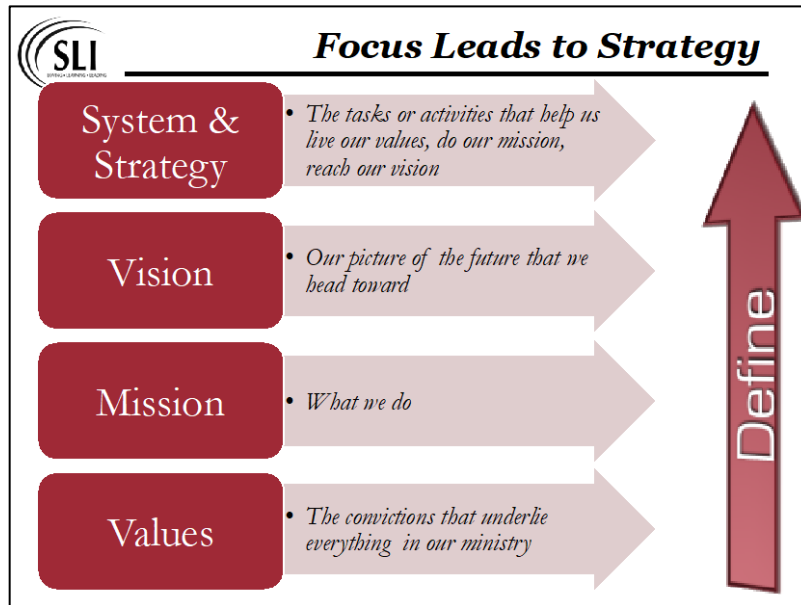

The one page map template is meant to capture in a consistent way the key elements of an organization as it relates to a specific leader and their team. It can be thought of as short hand version of the organizations guiding thoughts coupled with the necessary elements to lead and manage the efforts of the team. When a team takes the time to use this tool several benefits are possible:

- The leader and the team are forced to prioritize what is most important.
- Strategies are formed based on understandings of the vision, mission, values and context, as opposed to personal intuition.
- Members of the team share the same expectations and can more efficiently work on significant challenges.
- As team leaders learn to use this tool with their team on a regular cadence (monthly suggested) then the organization can have effective dialog between teams and allow teams within the organization to contribute effectively and appropriately.

Definitions

We believe each of the following components is critical for understanding an organization. Recognizing that different organizations define these terms in different ways, we believe that each is essential for the people on a team to have a consistent understanding.

A system is a group of activities/interactions or interrelating parts that function together as a whole producing an outcome that is greater than the sum of the parts.

A generative system grows over time and reproduces itself. The essence (DNA) of the parent is transferred to the child. Then the child becomes a parent.

As disciples engage people in the culture, they can be connected as newcomers into the Christian faith and fellowship. Once connected they can be equipped as they understand their gifts and how to best serve, and then sent out into the world to be disciples and multiply the process.
